(a) Black cannot delay this exchange any longer, as White threatened to become dangerous with an attack on the queen's side of the board.

(h) Black, having his two rooks in play, desires to break through on the king's side, just say White tries similar tactles on the queen's side of the board.

tragic circumstances of Dr. Perlis will be deeply regretted by many chess players of the present generation. Julius Perlis was born in 1880 at Bialystock, Russia, but in his early youth went to Austria for the purpose of studying law. In his student days Perlis was already regarded as a strong chess player, and in 1905 he received the title of master at Barmen.

filling ninth place, and the character of his play made a deep impression, his conduct of several games, notably those against Salve and Marshall, seeming to indicate the arrival of a fresh luminary in the chess firmament. This early promise he scarcely realized in later years, although he made respectable scores in several of the most important tournaments

Perlis, like Blackburne, was always feared somewhat in excess of his actual record, for he was capable at any time of chess of a high order, and his play was uniformly steady and well reasoned. He was an enthusiastic mountaineer, and to his passion for traversing the mountains unaccompanied by a guide the loss of his life was doubtless due. He lost his way in the mountains, and his cries for help were heard by two tourists in the neighborhood, who failed, however, to locate the frozen remains of the young master

Judging from the subscriptions for the book on the Lasker-Rubinstein match games next year, much interest is evinced in the forthcoming contest, and there is hardly any doubt that two hundred American chess players will order the book, so as to make an English edition possible. As stated before in The Tribune, the book, in addition to the games to be annotated by both players and the history of the match, will contain all the names of subscribers. There will be printed as many books only as there are subscribers. Among those who have already forwarded their subscriptions are Walter Penn Shiply, of Philadelphia; Herman Behr, Julius Finn, A. Ettlinger, Rudolf Raubitschek, W. E. Arnold, Adolf Grant Wolf, associate justice of the Supreme Court of Porto Rico, and many others. Subscriptions may be forwarded to "The American Chess Bulletin," No. 150 Nassau street, which publication has been authorized by Dr. Lasker to receive remittances

Ty Cobb Leads Joe Jackson by Wide Margin-Cleveland Player Tied with Henriksen.

Ty Cobb, in a sprint to the tape, came down to the finish of the American giate contest. League race, leading Joe Jackson by 24 points for the batting honors of the organization. Given a little more time and the great Detroit outfielder would probably have reached the .400 mark at the rate he has travelled recently but as it is he will have to rest content with 390. His Cleveland rival fell to .366, the lowest mark he has reached all season, being tied with Henriksen of Boston, and only one point ahead of the redoubtable Tris Speaker.
